Golden LUNs are provisioned to Kilo-Client nodes (server blades) using Network Appliance Inc.'s FlexClone feature; each node SAN-boots from the provisioned LUN through the back-end network. Storage systems under test are accessed through the front-end network via Fibre Channel or IP protocols.